Windows 10 includes a tool called the game bar, and has some interesting features that you may not know. You can control Spotify during the game without having to deactivate the full screen mode. It's super comfortable. Without the game bar, checking Spotify while the game can hear jarring because you probably play your game in full screen mode. If at any time you want to adjust playback, you must press ALT + TAB to do it. The game bar includes a spotify widget that fluctuates on your game whenever you need it. What you will need the widget menu has been added to the game bar in the Windows 10 update of May 2019. Your machine must be running that version or more recent if you want to use the game bar. You must also have the Windows installed Spotify app. If you don't, game bar will ask you to install it when you enable the à €
